

JAVIER JN NATERA

ILUSIONISTA CONTEMPORÁNEO

Javier Natera designs experiences of illusionism and mentalism where the magic does not happen in his hands, but in the mind of the audience.

His work combines magic, mentalism, and contemporary stage design to provoke genuine wonder, curiosity, and human connection. It is not about demonstrating the impossible, but about sharing a moment experienced in community that remains in memory.

@magonatera

Throughout his career, Javier has presented his work to audiences worldwide, in contexts as diverse as corporate events, festivals, cultural spaces, and institutional projects. Each experience is distinct, because each audience is.

His style is spontaneous, approachable, and improvisational. This ensures that no two shows are the same: each show is built in real time, together with the people experiencing it.

In addition to his stage presentations, Javier conducts workshops, lectures, and consulting related to the art of magic and creative thinking. He is the director and founder of an annual magic festival and actively collaborates with cultural associations, government administrations, and private projects.

He is a frequent performer at the Magic Castle.

TYPES OF EXPERIENCE

Close-Up Magic

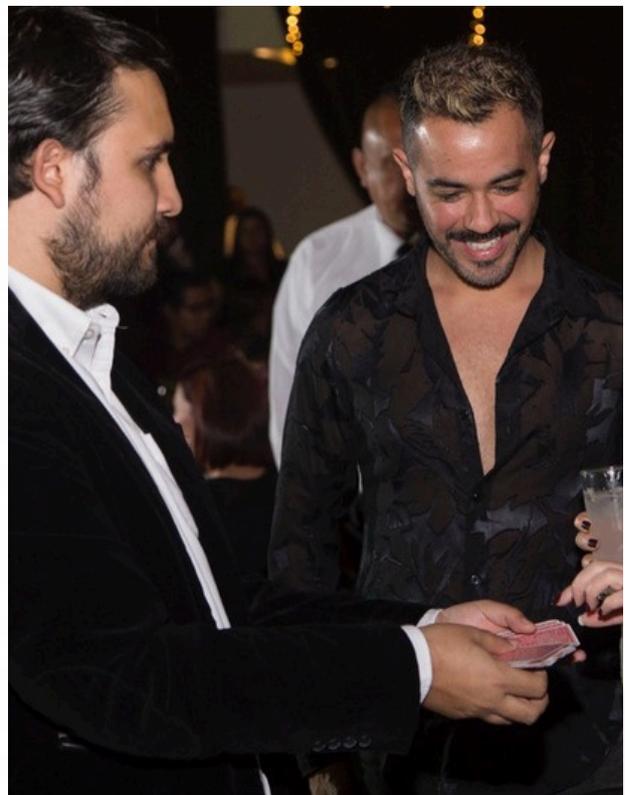

An intimate and surprising experience where magic literally happens in the spectator's hands. Designed for small groups, this experience emphasizes closeness, direct participation, and personalization. Each trick is adapted to the moment and the people, creating an immediate and memorable bond.

Ideal for: Exclusive events, private dinners, small celebrations, and premium experiences.

Walk-Around Magic

Illusionism in motion, without a fixed stage. Javier integrates into the event and mingles with the guests, performing spontaneous illusions. Magic appears unexpectedly, generating conversation, connection, and dynamism. Here there are no passive spectators: each person becomes an active part of the experience.

Ideal for: Cocktail parties, social events, and celebrations where energy and closeness are desired.

Stage · Magic and Mentalism

A stage experience that combines magic and mentalism in a contemporary theatrical format. This show invites the audience to question what they think they know about reality, perception, and decision-making processes.

With stunning effects, impossible predictions, and moments of collective participation, this show invites the audience to question what they think they know about reality, perception, and the human mind.

More than a spectacle, it is a shared experience that connects the entire audience in a single moment.

Ideal for: Corporate events, conferences, conventions, galas, and large-format audiences.
